

[LIVESTREAM] Gonzaga vs TCU Live March Madness Free TV Telecast ON 19th March 2023

Gonzaga vs. TCU: Game times, TV schedule, and how to stream online
One more game for one more trip to the Sweet 16.

The No. 3 Gonzaga Bulldogs will face off against the No. 6 TCU Horned Frogs for a trip to the Sweet 16 on Saturday evening. You can tune in to this game and all of the March Madness games with a subscription to Sling TV.

After a somewhat slow start, the Zags took it to Grand Canyon in the second half to advance to the second round for the 14th-consecutive time. Things weren't as easy for the Horned Frogs, who had to battle it out with Arizona State before JaKobe Coles made the game-winning shot in the final seconds to pull out the win.

If Gonzaga wins, it will be the eighth-straight year they have made the NCAA Tournament. For TCU, a win would mean the first Sweet 16 appearance since 1968. Never count out a hungry horned frog.

Game information

Time: 6:40 pm PT
TV: TBS
Online Stream
Live Radio
Live Stats
DraftKings Odds: Gonzaga -4.5

How to Watch Gonzaga vs. TCU on TV or Live Stream - NCAA Tournament Second Round

The No. 3 seed Gonzaga Bulldogs (29-5) will compete with the No. 6 seed TCU Horned Frogs (22-12) on Sunday with a spot in the Sweet 16 of the NCAA Tournament up for grabs. This matchup tips off at 9:40 PM.

Use our link to get a free trial of fuboTV, where you can watch college hoops and tons of other live sports without cable!
Gonzaga vs. TCU Game Info

When: Sunday, March 19, 2023 at 9:40 PM ET
Where: Ball Arena in Denver, Colorado
TV: TBS

Live Stream select March Madness games on fuboTV: Start your free trial today!

Watch college hoops all season without cable on all your devices with a seven-day free trial to fuboTV!
Gonzaga Stats Insights

The Bulldogs are shooting 52.9% from the field this season, 10.2 percentage points higher than the 42.7% the Horned Frogs allow to opponents.

Gonzaga has a 25-3 straight-up record in games it shoots higher than 42.7% from the field.

The Bulldogs are the 64th-ranked rebounding team in the country, the Horned Frogs sit at 86th.

The 87.4 points per game the Bulldogs put up are 19.4 more points than the Horned Frogs give up (68).

When Gonzaga puts up more than 68 points, it is 25-2.

TCU Stats Insights

This season, TCU has a 14-5 record in games the team collectively shoots above 44.3% from the field.

The Bulldogs are the rebounding team in the nation, the Horned Frogs rank 39th.

The Horned Frogs put up an average of 75.1 points per game, only 2.3 more points than the 72.8 the Bulldogs allow to opponents.

TCU has a 20-11 record when giving up fewer than 87.4 points.

Gonzaga Home & Away Comparison

Offensively Gonzaga has played better at home this year, averaging 92.9 points per game, compared to 84.8 per game when playing on the road.

The Bulldogs surrender 69.4 points per game in home games this season, compared to 78.4 on the road.

When playing at home, Gonzaga is draining 0.2 fewer threes per game (7.4) than when playing on the road (7.6). It also sports a lower three-point percentage at home (37.1%) compared to in road games (40%).

TCU Home & Away Comparison

TCU is scoring more points at home (77.9 per game) than on the road (72.4).

The Horned Frogs are allowing fewer points at home (63.5 per game) than on the road (76.3).

Beyond the arc, TCU drains fewer treys away (5 per game) than at home (5.4), and makes a lower percentage on the road (28.5%) than at home (30.2%) as well.